

CONTINUITY & RESILIENCE

2 Day BCI Business Impact Analysis(BIA) Training Course

Course Description:

This course has been designed for those business continuity professionals who are required to undertake a Business Impact Analysis in their organization and are looking to enhance their skills and technique for this essential component of an organization's Business Continuity Programme. Business Impact Analysis (BIA) is an essential component of any organization's Business Continuity Plan (BCP). Without it, the whole plan could fall over, jeopardizing the continuity and indeed survival of the whole business.

Success for any BCM project is contingent on gaining a thorough understanding of the organization. This course will take the participants through the steps required to develop a complete understanding of the Business Impact Analysis process, and the critical steps required to thoroughly understand the nature and requirements of an organization.

Understanding the business is critical if one is to be able to perform the in-depth analysis required to properly document the critical timelines and continuity requirements necessary to ensure that the BCP team is prepared to adequately address each BCP and DRP phase and will lead to a successful BCP project. The training is a combination of classroom lectures, discussions, simulation exercise, videos and a role play. This workshop offers a high- paced, structured, eye-opening and comprehensive learning experience.

This course entitles you to 16 CPE credits.

Learning objectives:

- The course takes the individual through the steps required to develop a complete understanding of the BIA process, including the critical steps required to achieve a thorough understanding of the nature and operational requirements of an organization.
